

SEMCOG is developing the 2045 Regional Development Forecast for Southeast Michigan

Get involved by...

Reviewing and giving feedback on

- Forecasts of population, households, and jobs for your community
- More than 30,000 buildings recently completed or in the development pipeline

Learning and discussing critical regional trends:

- Population and employment growth
- A transforming economy
- Structural changes in demographics
- Shifting labor force
- Shifts in public policy
- Implications for municipal services, education, workforce development, and infrastructure planning

The final forecast results will serve as the basis for regional and local planning efforts, including the 2045 Regional Transportation Plan
